FOREWORD

The researches of various Historical Societies reveal the fact that the Kelly family—with various spellings of the name—were on the job in America as colonizers, soldiers, buyers of land, sea captains, statesmen add worth while citizens since 1620 in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Virginia, Maryland, and every state along the Atlantic seaboard, in the Middle West, and in the Far West.

Shortly before the death of Moses Kelly (No. 41) in 1882 my father, David, (No. 61) procured from him an outline record of the 4th, 5th and 6th generations of our branch of the family. That was as far back as his records went. When Mr. Austin, a descendant of Mehitable Kelly, made his exhaustive study of private and public records in preparation of his "One Hundred and Sixty Allied Families," he not only traced the 2nd and 3rd generations from the original progenitor, David O'Killea of Yarmouth, but he showed also the ancestry of all the wives of the early Kellys from whom we are descended. This is shown in the tables herein included.

The facts concerning the subsequent generations have all been furnished by the members of the many widely scattered families who trace their origin back to the same source. They are complete and authentic, and are here assembled for the first time. I cannot say too much in praise of the skill in preserving these records and the willingness in furnishing them to me, which has been shown by all who have received my inquiries.

I wish it were possible to reproduce many of the letters, diaries, personal sketches, photographs, etc., which have been loaned me since I began this. I have greatly enjoyed the new acquaintance of many of the family whom I have met personally or have corresponded with. I hope that this little record will help others of the family to get together also.

I should think that each family would like to keep a few copies of these books to enable them to provide for their descendants, and to have at hand a record of their immediate kindred. As the book is privately printed, it will not be on sale after I am gone. The time to act is now. The price has been put low, as follows:

The first copy, $2.00. The second copy, $1.00. The third and any number of subsequent copies, 25 cents each.

GENEALOGY

1. DAVID O'KELLY

The progenitor of the ten generations and 316 individuals recorded in this study was the first of the line to come to America. There is a legend that his parents died during the crossing, and that a villainous captain (afterwards hanged) robbed him, and set him down, a mere lad of 10 or 12 years, in the town of Yarmouth which lies on Massachusetts Bay in the elbow of Cape Cod. This was about 1637, though the exact date is not known.

By 1657 he must have reached manhood, for in that year he was an "admitted inhabitant of Yarmouth," and took the oath of "fidelity," and he proved to be hardy and capable.

The records call him "David O'Kelia, the Irishman." His name was spelled in various ways, O'Killea, O'Kelley, O'Killey, O'Kelly.

In 1676 David O'Kelia was taxed 2 pounds 6 s. 9 d. in a rate made "toward the charge of the late war."

In his will he calls himself David O'Killea. This will, probated in Barnstable County July 19th, 1697, his wife, Jane, as executrix, disposes of his estate as follows:

To son, Jeremiah, 2 shillings, and like amount to sons, Joseph and David, and grandson, John.

To daughter, Elizabeth, a little chest and great iron kettle after wife's decease.

To son, Benjamin, gun, sword and great chest.

To wife, Jane, and son, Benjamin, horses, two oxen, cow, heifer, sheep and swine, equally between them.

To wife, Jane, bed, bedding and all movables not above mentioned.

To son, Benjamin, the dwelling house, lands and meadows after wife's decease or marriage.

To daughter, Sarah, a box and two lesser iron kettles, after decease of wife.

The estate inventoried in equally great detail 97 pounds, 6 shillings, 3 pence.

His wife, Jane, died October 17, 1711. Of her nothing further is known.

Their children were:

2. JEREMIAH m. Sarah
3. Joseph
4. David m. Anna Bills, 1692.
5. Benjamin m. Mary Lambert
6. Sarah
7. Elizabeth m. Silas Sears, 1707.

John m. Bethia Lewis 1690, 8, 10; d. 1693, 10, 26.

Second Generation

2. JEREMIAH O'KELLY (David 1)

Little is known of the oldest son of David beyond the fact that he made good as a colonist and raised a family. His wife, Sarah, is not mentioned in his will, and presumably died before he did. He died August 30, 1728, and his will was probated in Barnstable County October 23, 1728, with his sons, Eleazer and Seth, named as executors, disposing of his estate as follows:

To son, Joseph, upland at place called South Sea, in Yarmouth, where said Joseph lives, together with housing and fencing.

To son, Eleazer, other piece of upland adjoining where Eleazer lives.

To son, Seth, the homestead, farm, and orchard of testator.

To son, Amos, all the upland and meadow at Crooky Neck, in consideration that he pay 4 pounds apiece to testator's granddaughters, Elizabeth and Jerusha, daughters of son, Jeremiah.

To four sons, Joseph, John, Eleazer and Seth, the meadow flats and small island at South Sea.

To three daughters, Sarah Carpenter, Hannah Eldridge, and Deliverance Baker, beds, furniture, etc.

Included in the inventory were the following items: Homestead 400 pounds, another farm 400 pounds, meadow 400 pounds. The entire estate inventoried 1447 pounds, 5 s. 10 d.

13. SETH O'KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2.)

He was born in 1700. He inherited his father's homestead and continued to live in Yarmouth, Barnstable County, Mass. He and his brother, John, were Quakers, as the following record (May 16, 1756) shows: "We, John Kelly and Seth Kelly, of Yarmouth do certify that Matthew Gage doth visit our meetings and own our principles. We do earnestly desire that the assessors would omit in the Priest's Rate."

He died August 13, 1758. The will made May 15, 1758 was proved September 19, 1758. The executors were his wife, Mehitable, and sons, Seth and Richard. The witnesses were Hattie Kelly, John Cash and Seth Baker. The estate was disposed of as follows:

To wife, Mehitable, the improvements of all his estate in lieu of dower, and the indoor movables are to be hers to dispose of.

The Friends' Church at So. Yarmouth was given by David Kelly (25) in 1809. It also has an old clock made by Ezra Kelly of New Bedford in 1837. There is another old cemetery besides the one surrounding the church. It is in Mayfair in So. Dennis, and almost all the graves are Kellys. Only a step remains to mark the spot of the meeting house.

David D. Kelly, who died Jan. 11, 1937, a direct descendant of the first settlers in Yarmouth was long active in civic affairs on Cape Cod. He was one of the last survivors of the Old Quaker Church there.

Fourth Generation

19. SETH KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13.)

He was born November 26, 1730 in Yarmouth, Mass. From there he moved to Mendon, which lay just north of Narragansett Bay near the Rhode Island line. His marriage intent with Molly Daniels of Mendon was published there April 26, 1760. She was born Oct. 10, 1741 and died July 9, 1818.

This generation was the first to omit the "O". The name was usually signed Killey or Killy.

A deed recorded Sept. 25, 1759 in Worcester County, Mass., records: "Benjamin Carghill, Clothier, of Mendon, for three hundred pounds lawful money paid by Seth Killey of Yarmouth in the county of Barnstable, Blacksmith, conveys to the latter one tract of about 115 acres, bounded easterly on Mill River."

The Kelly family both in Mendon and in Yarmouth were worth while people. They were Quakers. He made his will April 4, 1799. He had done well both as a citizen and a business man.

He died April 29, 1799 and was the first to be buried in the new Quaker burying ground in South Mendon, now known as the Friends' Cemetery in East Blackstone.

The children of Seth and Mollie Kelly were:

28. SETH	b. Sept. 10, 1762	d. Dec. 27, 1850

28. SETH KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19.)

He was born in Mendon, Mass., Sept. 10, 1762. He died there December 27, 1850, and was buried in the Friends' Burying Ground adjoining the Meeting House in what is now East Blackstone, Mass. The house in which he lived is now (1937) in an excellent state of preservation and surrounded by huge elms said to be of his planting.

He was identified with the earliest development of one of the basic industries of this country, namely the manufacture of cotton. In 1786 the first cotton machinery was made in this country. By 1810 there were a dozen mills in operation, and probably Seth Kelly's mill in Blackstone was one of them, though his was not started before 1800. Moses, his oldest son, engaged in farming, but his three younger sons all turned to manufacturing, as did several of his grandsons.

On Feb. 25 1848, Blackstone having been set off from Mendon in about 1845, he made his will in which he bequeaths to his four sons and states:

"To my son, Samuel Killey, now living in the state of Ohio"

"To my two sons, Moses Kelly and Eli Kelly; To my wife, Eunice, etc.," and signs it "Seth Killey."

The father was in partnership with the two sons in Blackstone, manufacturing, and their firm debts more than consumed his considerable estate at his death, Dec. 27, 1850.

He married (1) Oct. 22, 1789 Sarah Williams of Easton, Mass., who was born May 15, 1757 and died Feb. 26, 1810. The children of this marriage were:

41. Moses	b. Aug. 24, 1790	d. July 14, 1882
42. Samuel	b. Jan. 8, 1792	d. Aug. 28, 1871

45. Mary	b. Apr. 17, 1798	d. Feb. 25, 1825

He married (2) Feb. 13, 1817, Eunice Earle, who was born Mar. 9, 1774 and died October 1, 1857. No children from this marriage.

Sixth Generation

41. MOSES KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28)

He was born in East Blackstone, Mass. (originally part of Mendon) August 24, 1790, the oldest of four sons, each of whom grew up to be sturdy, energetic, and successful men.

On March 12, 1812 he married Watee Hill (b. 1787—d. 1838). About this time he built for his home a large frame house on a lot adjoining that of his father, Seth. This house, an excellent example of New England colonial architecture, is still well preserved, and is now occupied by his grandchildren, Seth Kelly (78) and Mrs. Sadie Kelly Chase (79), the children of his son, Moses G. Kelly (50).

Next to it stands the three story stone building, once the store of Kelly & Paine, the post office, and now the home of the local grange. It is a landmark in the vicinity.

Moses remained in his native town and looked after the farm and factory which were established by his father. Both men were interested in the development of water power and the use of textile machinery, then just coming to the fore in New England, as in the mother country.

The Kelly families attended the Friends' Meeting about two miles up the road, and Moses planted the pine trees which now surround the burying ground adjoining, and where probably three-fourths of the headstones bear the Kelly name. There is no longer a religious organization, but the house and cemetery are kept up by a fund from the Comstocks, a Kelly connection.

He was a man with strong family ties, and always kept up a contact with his brothers, Seth and Samuel, who early in life went to Ohio to settle. Besides always keeping a diary, he recorded in a neat hand the deaths, births and marriages of the Kelly generations preceding his own, and gave this information to distant members of his family connections.

On November 6, 1844, six years after the death of his first wife, he married (2) Dorcas Hall Judkins, (b. April 24, 1814).

He was a man of great physical vigor, active on his farm till over 90, and living until almost 92 years of age.

The children of Moses and Watee Hill Kelly were:

46. Gilbert Baker Kelly	b. Dec. 29, 1812	d. May 12, 1818
47. Sarah Williams Kelly	b. Dec. 8, 1817	d. Mar. 12, 1830
48. Seth Kelly	b. Oct. 6, 1819	d. Feb. 13, 1821
49. Eunice E. Kelly-Billings	b. Apr. 22, 1823	d. 1898
50. Moses Gilbert Kelly	b. June 11, 1828	d. July 30, 1910

The children of Moses Kelly and Doris Judkins Kelly were:

51. Samuel J. Kelly	b. July 1846	d. Oct. 9, 1846
52. Alice R. Kelly	b. 1848	d. Oct. 2, 1853

42. SAMUEL KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 12, Seth 19, Seth 28.)

He was born in East Blackstone (formerly So. Mendon) Mass. January 8, 1792.

Very early in life he showed an interest in and aptitude for the use of power machinery in manufacturing. Enterprising and adventurous, he set out for the New West with his brother, Seth, to dispose of a lot of manufactured goods, and did not stop till they arrived at the new settlement of West Milton, Ohio, about 15 miles north of Dayton.

In 1861, at the age of 69 and still looking for new adventure, he took his son with him to St. Joseph, Mo., and there erected a saw mill, which was soon to be abandoned at the outbreak of the War. In 1865, however, he went west again with his three sons, John, Enos, and Lon, and built another woolen mill at Iowa Falls, Iowa, which the youngest son continued to operate for a number of years (after his brothers) returned to Ohio.

On June 2, 1819 he married Mahala Yount (b. Nov. 6, 1802—d. April 15, 1856.) She bore him eight children, all of whom grew to maturity. In 1852 when his brother, Seth, and his wife died within six weeks of each other, three of their young children—Davis, Eli and Sarah—were added to this household. She was the daughter of Frederick Yount and was born on the Ohio River in 1802 while the family were moving from North Carolina to Miami Co., Ohio. She was the daughter of John Mast. The family probably came to the Carolinas from the Palatinate, Alsasce, or Switzerland, along with the Hoovers and other settlers of Miami County.

On September 4, 1861 he married Miranda Thayer (b. Feb. 22, 1806—d. June 5, 1869). There were no children of this marriage.

He was one of the builders of the state of Ohio. There he found many others of the Quaker faith, who, established two "Meetings" in the little community, the East Branch and the West Branch. He educated his children beyond the facilities of the community, sending them to schools in Dayton, Yellow Springs, and Troy.

On August 28, 1871, while still in good health, he was fatally injured by a horse, and died at the age of 79, in Iowa Falls, where he was buried.

The children of Samuel and Mahala Kelly were:

53. Allen Kelly	b. Apr. 16, 1821	d. June 29, 1904
54. John Kelly	b. Oct. 18, 1823	d. Jan. 8, 1907
55. Daniel Kelly	b. June 8, 1826	d. Aug. 25, 1854
56. Mary Kelly-Edwards	b. July 8, 1829	d. Sept. 26, 1927
57. Jane Kelly-Tenney	b. June 8, 1833	d. May 21, 1901
58. Seth Kelly	b. April 28, 1836	d. May 13, 1868
59. Enos Kelly	b. Aug. 9, 1840	d. July 16, 1869
60. Leonidas Kelly	b. Aug. 24, 1846	d.

43. SETH KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 12, Seth 19, Seth 28.)

He was born October 5, 1794 in East Blackstone (formerly So. Mendon) Massachusetts, where he and his brothers were reared in the Quaker faith, and taught useful trades and the habit of industry.

When in the second decade of the century sales from their mill were slow and goods were piling up, it was decided to send Sam and Seth west with a load of cloth. They found not only a market, but a new home, for on reaching the valley of the Stillwater River with its fertile fields, its possibilities for water power, and its fast growing settlements, mostly made up of Quakers like themselves, they decided to remain, and put their skill and energy to work making goods for the surrounding country.

Whereas Sam's mills were run by the spring fed streams tumbling into the Stillwater River, Seth built a saw mill and machine shop to be run by water power secured by daming the river itself. Here he manufactured the Kelly Scythes, the first to be made thereabouts, and for many years famous. Near by on a cross road from one side of the river to the other he built a substantial home, which I well remember seeing in my youth. The road had been closed, the house demolished for the sake of the materials, and the remnants of the mill swept away by the floods.

He was active also in building up the community, and in 1840 promoted the building of the Dayton and Covington Turnpike, the milestones of which still stand along Route 71. He prospered financially, and left to his four young children sufficient money to provide for their education, support, and start in life.

His first marriage to Millie Yount (b. April 8, 1810) on October 4, 1825 was childless. She died June 9, 1835. She was a younger sister of his brother, Sam's, wife.

He married (2) Mary Ann Coppock-Waggoner (b. Nov. 5, 1807), daughter of Thomas Coppock, and widow of Jacob Waggoner, both of whose families were settlers from Newberry, S. C. She brought to this marriage a family of four children, John, Elizabeth, Thomas, and Mary Waggoner, and bore four more to Seth Kelly before she succumbed to consumption, August 5, 1852.

Six weeks later her husband, Seth Kelly, died—Sept. 19, 1852. Both are buried in the cemetery of the West Branch Quaker Meeting, near West Milton, Miami County, Ohio.

The children of Seth and Mary Ann Kelly were:

61. David Kelly	b. Oct. 30, 1837	d. Jan. 16, 1890
62. Eli Kelly	b. Nov. 4, 1839	d. Aug. 18, 1899
63. Sarah Kelly-Jay	b. Jan. 19, 1844
64. Mary Ann Kelly-Davis	b. Jan. 20, 1846

44. ELI KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 82)

He was born in East Blackstone (formerly So. Mendon,) Mass. April 9, 1796, and bred to the same practical accomplishments as his three older brothers. He is said to have combined a lofty idealism with the practical air of earning a living in the industry established by his family in Blackstone.

He was an ardent Quaker, and his religious bent appeared also in his children. His first marriage on June 4, 1823 to Anna Battey of a prominent Quaker family, was solemnized by the use of the Quaker ritual, in which the couple virtually married themselves, all present signing the marriage certificate to attest the ceremony. Their certificate contains the signatures of his sister, Mary, or Molly, as she was generally called, his brother, Moses, and wife, Wattee, besides cousins and others.

Anna Battey Kelly died in 1828 at the early age of 28, while on a preaching mission in Maine. Three children were born to them:

65. Seth Kelly	b. Mar. 20, 1824	d. Dec. 26, 1853
66. Charles Kelly	b. Feb. 1, 1826	d. Oct. 29, 1921
67. Henry Kelly	b. Jan. 29, 1828	d. May 17, 1828

He was married a second time on May 6, 1830 to Lydia Rathbone, a lady of colonial Quaker lineage (b. July 13, 1803—d. May 25, 1854.) To the nurture of Eli's two young boys by the former marriage, Seth and Charles, as well as to her own which followed, she brought a cultured mind and a Christian spirit.

The children of Eli and Lydia Rathbone Kelly were:

68. Alice R. Kelly	b. Aug. 1, 1832	d. July 20, 1835
69. Sarah W. Kelly	b. May 15, 1835	d. Sept. 22, 1892
70. Mary R. Kelly	b. Apr. 28, 1837	d. Apr. 21, 1926
71. Roland R. Kelly	b. Dec. 19, 1839	d. Apr. 1922
72. Alice R. Kelly	b. Mar. 13, 1843	d. July 20, 1844
73. William R. Kelly	b. Dec. 8, 1845	d. July 25, 1860

He provided liberally for the education of his children. His daughters attended the Oread Institute in Worcester, Mass., and his sons and daughters the Friends' school in Providence, now known as Moses Brown School.

In the summer of 1854, soon after the death of his wife, he took his two daughters, Sarah, age 19, and Mary, age 17, to visit his brother, Samuel, in West Milton, Ohio. Five days after his arrival he was stricken with cholera and died in 24 hours. Samuel's son Daniel died the next day in the same manner, though there were no other fatalities in the families. It may be that this tragic occurrence did something to attach the two girls to their western cousins, for as long as they lived they kept in touch with one or another of them by correspondence, and their visit was returned by the children of Seth and Samuel in later life.

Descendants of Moses Kelly, 41

They lived for the most part in Milford, Mass., where he was engaged in business, and where she died in 1898.

He was born June 11, 1828 in the old homestead at East Blackstone, Mass. He attended the Friends' School in Providence, now known as Moses Brown School. At the age of 21 he joined the California Gold Rush of '49, taking a six months' voyage by way of Cape Horn. He remained in California for 14 years, running a mining store and minding a toll bridge. On his return he married Mary Anna Judkins of Fairfield, Maine, (b. April 8, 1842—d. May 15, 1912.) He assisted his father on the farm, and in operating a saw mill. He also carried the mail to and from Woonsocket, R. I. He was a man of great vigor and lived an active life up to the time of his death in East Blackstone, Mass., July 20, 1910 at the age of 82. The writer remembers calling upon him about 1895 and noting the facial resemblance to the members of the Kelly family whom he knew in Ohio, especially Eli (No. 62)

The children of Moses G. and Anna Kelly were:

77. Alice Kelly	b. May 20, 1866	d. May 28, 1872

He was born in West Milton, Ohio, Apr. 16, 1821, and died there June 29, 1904, at the age of 83 years. He prospered as a farmer, and like his father, Samuel, was a man of great industry and integrity. He married May 9, 1846, Jane Rutledge (b. Oct. 11, 1823—d. Oct. 11, 1901). Their children were:

54. JOHN KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Samuel 42.)

He was born in West Milton, Ohio, Oct. 28, 1823. As his bent like his father's was more toward machinery than toward farming, he was sent in his teens east to his relatives in Massachusetts to learn the machinist trade. He returned to aid him in the erection and operation of the mills about his home, and accompanied him in 1865 to Iowa Falls to assist in the erection of a mill there, which was operated after the war by his brother, Lon. On his return home in 1868 he removed to Troy, Ohio, the county seat, and in 1873 there formed a partnership with Asa T. Beedle under the name of Beedle & Kelly for the manufacture of agricultural implements, and a general foundry and machine shop business. He secured patents for a number of such implements including a very successful corn planter, which dropped the seed corn automatically at such regular intervals that the cultivator could be driven through the field at right angles to the original planting. This eliminated hand labor both in the dropping of the seed and in the weeding of the half grown corn. The writer spent many happy and useful hours as a young boy watching the processes in this factory. His two sons, Orrin and George, learned the machinist's and founder's trades in the factory. He also invented a self feeding stove, a gas machine, a windmill, a sewing machine, a vise stop, and other useful articles.

He died in Troy, Ohio, January 8, 1907.

He married Elizabeth Jane Miller March 1, 1847. She was born in Hedgesville, West Va., Apr. 4, 1825; died in Troy, O.

The children of John and Elizabeth Kelly were:

88. Orrin Kelly	b. Dec. 27, 1847	d. Sept. 11, 1899
89. Mary J. Kelly-Weiland	b. June 25, 1849	d. Jan. 31, 1928
90. Mahala Kelly-Shackelford	b. Jan. 31, 1851	d. June 5, 1937
91. George Charles Kelly	b. Aug. 27, 1853	d. Dec. 10, 1930

55. DANIEL W. KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Samuel 42.)

He was born in West Milton, Ohio, June 18, 1826.

He married on Dec. 25, 1852 Frances Tuttle, who was born Feb. 22, 1806. Just as the couple were getting started in life the dread cholera struck the town. His uncle, Eli Kelly (44) arrived from the ancestral home in Blackstone, Mass., with his daughters, Mary and Sarah (70 & 69) August 18, 1854, and died Aug. 23, after one day's illness. The next day, August 24, 1854, Daniel came down with the disease and died the same day. Frances, his wife, had died August 28, 1853. Both are bured in the West Milton cemetery.

There were no children.

56. MARY KELLY-EDWARDS (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Samuel 42.)

She was born in West Milton, Ohio, July 8, 1829, and died in Inanda, about 15 miles north of Duban, Natal, South Africa, September 26, 1927, at the age of 98 years.

As a young girl she showed great intellectual promise, and was sent to Cooper Academy in Dayton, Ohio, in 1847, from which she graduated in 1853. She at once began her long career as a teacher, which ended only in her death.

After several minor positions in schools of the county, she was invited to teach in the Troy schools by William N. Edwards in 1853. On July 15, 1856 she married Mr. Edwards, and their home occupied a prominent place in the cultural life of that unusually cultured little city. Mr. Edwards had been brought from Pittsfield, Mass., by a group of rominent citizens to organize a public school system including a free public high school. By his remarkable personality and his wife educational vision he gave the Troy schools a place in the hearts of the people and a reputation throughout the state, that have endured to this day. He was born July 4, 1812, died Aug. 3, 1867 and was buried in Riverside Cemetery, Troy, Ohio.

Many children came to Troy to attend these schools, among them the younger brother, nephew, and cousins of Mrs. Edwards, from West Milton. In addition to her school duties she took them into her family to board, and it is to be feared that the country boys did not fully appreciate her efforts to polish their manners.

On the death of her husband her thoughts turned toward another field, and she soon offered her services to the Women's Missionary Board of the Congregational Church, and was sent to South Africa, where she founded a seminary for teaching Zulu girls. This work gave her great prominence in Missionary circles, where in later years she was usually known as "Mother Edwards." Though she remained at her post to the end in spite of years of total blindness, she always kept up correspondence with her relatives, typing her letters by touch. For years before her death she was the oldest missionary of the Board. She sailed for Africa the first time August 19, 1868. She returned but once to her homeland—in 1874.

Great intellectual and spiritual powers, an indomatable will, and unusual human interest in people whether white or black, were the outstanding characteristics of her personality.

She had no children.

57. JANE KELLY-TENNEY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Samuel 42.)

She was born in West Milton, Ohio, June 18, 1833 and died in Troy, Ohio, May 21, 1901. In the fall of 1854 she went to Yellow Springs, Ohio, a famous "watering place" to attend Antioch College then under the presidency of the famous educator, Horace Mann. It was the only college in Ohio without either State or denominational backing but owed it ssuccess and prestige entirely to its educational program. Her brother, Seth (58), and her cousin, David (61), were sent there by her father at the same time.

She completed her studied in 1856, and almost immediately married Washington Irving Tenney (b. 1835—d. April 7, 1922), son of Dr. Eli Tenney of Montgomery County. He was always addressed by his middle name, as were several of his children. He was a farmer by occupation. He was called to complete the term of his father as Auditor of Miami County, and thereafter remained in or near Troy the county seat. He was well known and popular, and represented the district in the Ohio legislature. He and his children were very musical, and at one time composed almost the entire choir of the Christian Church which the family attended. He was a musician in the 147th Ohio V. I. during the 100 days service.

Jane possessed great force of character, and in spite of many years of invalidism performed the arduous duties of a farmer's wife, and brought up a large family of splendid children. In the list below the names by which they were generally known are in italics:

92. Ida Tenney	b. Dec. 20, 1858	d. Feb. 6, 1926
93. Frank W. Tenney	b. Oct. 15, 1860
94. Charles Elmer Tenney	b. Nov. 12, 1862	d. Feb. 27, 1922
95. Alice Bertha-Williams	b. Oct. 1, 1864
96. Mary Estella Tenney	b. Apr. 22, 1868	d. Jan. 14, 1891
97. William Harold Tenney	b. July 5, 1870
98. George L. Tenney	b. Nov. 13, 1872
99. Horace B. Tenney	b. Nov. 26, 1874

58. SETH KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Samuel 42.)

He was born in West Milton, Ohio, April 23, 1836, and died in Vinland, Kansas, May 13, 1868. He also attended Antioch College 1854-1856, and on leaving school immediately moved to Kansas. Here, true to his Quaker principles, he participated in the struggle to keep Kansas a free state. In partnership with W. E. Barnes he established a fruit farm and nursery in Vinland. Here also he was a charter member of the first public library association established in Kansas.

In 1861 he enlisted in the 9th Kansas Cavalry, and served throughout the war. He received saddle injuries, which a post war operation in St. Louis failed to remedy, and from which he died leaving a young wife and infant son. The G. A. R. Post is named for him.

On October 18, 1866 he married Martha Varnum Cutter (b. Oct. 28, 1841—d. Mar. 22, 1925), who came to Kansas as one of the "Free Soil" settlers when she was 18 years old. Her family came from Dracut, Mass., and was no doubt aided and encouraged by the "Emigration Society" of that state, whose aim was to populate Kansas with people hostile to slavery. In 1874 she was married to William H. Gill.

The only child of Seth and "Mattie" Kelly was:

100. George Edwards Kelly b. Nov. 16, 1867

59. ENOS KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Samuel 42.)

He was born in West Milton, Ohio, Aug. 7, 1840, and died in Iowa Falls, Iowa, July 16, 1869.

On May 26, 1863, he married Sarah Lair (b. June 6, 1846—d. Aug. 12, 1917) of West Milton, Ohio, a sister of Ella Lair who married his nephew, Samuel Kelly (82).

He served in his cousin, Captain David Kelly's company H 147th Ohio Volunteer Infantry in 1864.

In 1865 he went with his father and brother, Leonidas and John, to Iowa Falls, Iowa, to erect a woolen mill, but he lived only a short time. After his death his wife took her three small children back to her home in Ohio. When they grew old enough to go away to school, they were sent through the influence of their aunt, Mary Edwards, to the Moody Schools at Northfield, Mass., and Sarah remarried and made her home there.

The children of Enos and Sarah Lair Kelly were:

101.	Edgar Lincoln Kelly	b. Sept. 27, 1865
102.	William Henry Kelly	b. Aug. 23, 1867	d. Mar. 17, 1890
103.	Fannie M. Kelly-Parker	b. May 27, 1869	d. Dec. 10, 1936

60. LEONIDAS LEE KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Samuel 42.)

He was born in West Milton, Ohio, August 24, 1846.

He went to Troy to continue his education in the excellent public schools there, and while there boarded with his sister, Mrs. Edwards (56), the wife of the Superintendent, and herself a teacher. While there he enlisted in the 147th O. V. I. in his cousin, Captain David Kelly's company, and saw action in the defense of Washington during the summer of 1864. When his enlistment expired he returned to school.

In April 1865, he accompanied his father and two brothers to Iowa Falls, Iowa, for the purpose of establishment of a woolen mill. After their return he continued to operate it for a time after Enos died, but sold out and erected a creamery. Later he had business ventures in real estate and other lines in Sioux Falls and Chicago. In 1913 he homesteaded a tract on Merritt's Island in Brevard County, Florida, on the Indian River opposite Cocoa, where he now resides (1937).

On March 25, 1870 he married Lucinda Eldred (b. Mar. 21, 1849—d. May 13, 1905.) a talented musician, daughter of Nelson Eldred, a prominent citizen of Iowa Falls, Iowa.

The children of Leonidas (Lon) and Lucina Kelly were:

104. Frederick S. Kelly	b. Oct. 7, 1870
105. Edward E. Kelly	b. Sept. 13, 1878	d. Apr. 14, 1880

Descendants of Seth Kelly, 43

61. DAVID KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Seth 43.)

He was born in West Milton, Ohio, Oct. 20, 1837 and died in Troy, Ohio, January 16, 1890.

In the fall of 1852 his father sent him in care of a neighbor to Springfield, Ohio, for the purpose of attending Wittenberg College there, but as he lost his trunk full of clothes on the way, he returned home. The death of his father on Sept. 19th, left him doubly orphaned, and he went to live with his Uncle Samuel. Later he went with his cousins, Jane and Seth, to Antioch College at Yellow Springs, Ohio, and remained there from 1854 to until 1856. He then went to Troy to clerk in the bookstore of Barton S. Kyle, who also took him into his home, and later into partnership.

At the first call for volunteers he enlisted in the 11th Ohio Infantry as regimental seargent major. In 1862 Mr. Kyle went to the war as lieutenant colonel of the 71st O. V. I. and in April was killed at the battle of Pittsburg Landing. David continued the bookstore alone, leaving to serve again for 100 days in 1864 as Captain of the 147th O. V. I. After the war he took his brother, Eli, in as a partner, but soon sold out to him and sought a less confining occupation, as his health had become impaired in the service.

For many years he canvassed Miami County with a horse and wagon selling Singer Sewing Machines, but eventually had to give up this work also. From then on it was a constant struggle for health, and in the first influenza epidemic in 1890 he proved an easy victim, and died in Troy, Jan. 16, 1890.

In January, 1865, he married Ellen E. Powers, a native of Troy, and daughter of Judge B. F. Powers (1798-1860). She lived until May 28, 1916. Their children were:

106. William P. Kelly b. Dec. 30, 1865
107. Catherine M. Kelly-Bennett b. Dec. 1, 1869 d. July 14, 1937
108. Anna Louise Kelly b. July 8, 1874
109. Benjamin Seth Kelly b. Feb. 28, 1876 d. Oct. 7, 1918

62. ELI KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Seth 43.)

He was born in West Milton, Ohio, November 4, 1839, and died at the home of his sister, Mary, in West Milton, August 18, 1899. On the death of his parents when he was but 13 years of age, he received a home in the family of his uncle, Samuel, and his education in the common schools of the town. His father left all the children well provided for.

At the beginning of the Civil War he enlisted for three years in the 44th Ohio Infantry, and on the expiration of his term, re-enlisted in the 8th Ohio Cavalry. While stationed at Phillippi, West Virginia, he was shot through the chest in a night raid. His brother, David, brought him home with great difficulty, and he recovered sufficiently to rejoin his regiment until the end of the war. This was in the winter of 1864-1865.

When David had to give up the bookstore, he took it over and made it one of the best in that region. After about 25 years he sold out and engaged in the sale of pianos and other musical instruments, until his health failed. While in Chicago his condition became serious, and his brother-in-law, Oliver Jay, brought him to the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary K. Davis, in West Milton, where he died. He was buried with his wife and children in Riverside Cemetery, Troy, Ohio.

His marriage to Harriet Bates on May 4, 1867, turned out unfortunately, as so many impulsive marriages do, and they separated. She died in Oberlin, Ohio, Feb. 9, 1917, but was brought to Troy for burial.

The children of Eli (who was always nicknamed "Jim") and Harriet Kelly were:

110. Edward Kelly b. Feb. 21, 1869 d. July 5, 1895
111. Harry Kelly b. Feb. 21, 1870 d. Jan. 8, 1874
112. Robert Kelly b. July 1, 1875 d. May 27, 1908

63. SARAH KELLY-JAY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Seth 43.)

She was born in West Milton, Ohio, January 19, 1844.

When only eight and one-half years old both her parents died in quick succession, and she went to live with her Uncle Samuel Kelly. In 1857 she went to Troy to attend school, as her brother, David, and her cousin, Mrs. Mary Edwards, already lived there. She boarded with Zachariah Riley, then with her half brother, John Waggoner, and finally with Mrs. Edwards (56) until she graduated from the High School in 1866.

On October 3, 1867 she was married at the home of her brother, David, to Oliver Jay (b. June 3, 1844—d. Nov. 22, 1904) of West Milton, Ohio, son of Thomas Jay, a celebrated Quaker preacher and farmer of the town. From that time until after his death she made her home in St. Marys, Ohio, where he in partnership with his brother, Daniel Webster Jay, ran a linseed oil mill and later organized the Jay Grain Company for the marketing of the grains raised along the line of the Lake Erie & Western R. R.

In 1921 she moved to Portland, Indiana, where she and her two daughters (1937) still reside.

She is a woman of deep religious faith, and even at her present advanced age—93—never misses Church or Sunday Schoo lunless ill, which is very seldom, as she enjoys wonderful health for a person of her years. She has never forgotten the Eastern children of her Uncle Eli, and kept contact with them in various ways as long as they lived.

The children of Oliver and Sarah K. Jay were:

113. Mary Lula J. Wendeln	b. Aug. 24, 1870
114. Carrie Belle J. Haynes	b. Aug. 10, 1874
115. Florence E. Jay	b. Mar. 5, 1881	d. Aug.	1881

64. MARY ANN KELLY-DAVIS (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Seth 43.)

She was born in West Milton, Ohio, January 20, 1846.

On the death of her parents when she was only six years of age, she went to live with her half sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Waggoner Prill (d. Dec. 9, 1856, age 24 years) on a farm southwest of Troy. Here she lived a pioneer life for three years, and after two years more in the family of her guardian, Jacob Yount, she joined her sister, Sarah, in Troy for the purpose of continuing her education in the excellent schools there. They graduated from the High School in the same class, 1866, and their lives have been closely linked ever since.

For the next 22 years she was a teacher in public schools; first in the country schools, then in Troy for twelve years, in Humboldt and Marshalltown, Iowa, Little Rock, Ark., and St. Marys, O.

On October 4, 1896 she married David Davis (b. Feb. 27, 1831—d. Jan. 26, 1910) a retired farmer living in West Milton, Ohio. In 1904 they purchased a winter home in Port Orange, Florida, where she continued to live winters and sometimes the year around until 1932, when she joined her sister, Sarah, in Portland, Indiana. In the fall of 1935 she became a resident of the Presbyterian Home at Sidney, Ohio, where she now resides (1937) at the age of 91.

She is a lady of refined tastes and cultivated manners, and enjoys the esteem of persons in all walks of life.

She had no children.

Descendants of Eli Kelly, 44

65. SETH KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Eli 44.)

He was born in East Blackstone, Mass., March 20, 1824. As a young man experienced in the construction and operation of cotton mills, he went to Brazil to set up a mill there. Just as he was about to return, he was stricken with yellow fever, and died, December 26, 1853. There is a stone to his memory in the Friends' Cemetery at East Blackstone. There is no evidence that he was ever married.

66. CHARLES KELLY (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Eli 44.)

He was born in East Blackstone, Mass., Feb. 21, 1826, and died in Brookline, Mass., October 29, 1921, at the age of 95 years. After receiving a liberal education for the times in the Friends' (now Moses Brown) School in Providence, R. I., he entered a life long career in the textile industry.

On June 6, 1854 he married (1) Catherine W. Ballou, one of whose brothers, Allan, married his sister, Mary, and another, Charles, became his business partner. The connection between the Kelly, Ballou and Paine families was always close.

In 1855 he removed to North Weare, New Hampshire, where in company with Lyman Paine, a brother-in-law of his wife, he organized the Rockland Manufacturing Co. for the production of cotton goods. Around the mill was the village of Rockland, a mile south of North Weare. On buying out Mr. Paine he was joined by his younger brothers, Roland and William, and by Chas. O. Ballou. Heavy losses of finished goods in the Boston fire of 1872 was very hard on the fortunes of the company. Ten years later their mill was burned to the ground.

In 1869 his wife, Catherine, died leaving one son:

117. Walter Stuart Kelley b. Nov. 9, 1857

On June 6, 1876 he married (2) Abbie Fancena Corven. They had no children. In 1921 she made her home with her step-son, Walter, in Brookline, Mass., but in July 1932 returned to No. Weare to live with a sister, and died there Dec. 20, 1935.

He was to the end loyal to his Quaker faith, always using "plain speech," except in business connections, and affiliating with the "Meetings" wherever he went. At the time of his death he was the oldest member of the Boston Meeting.

On Sept. 21, 1921, his son, Walter gave a unique birthday party. Present were Charles, 95 years old, his wife, Abbie; his sister, Mary,84 and her husband, Allan Ballou, 89; his brother, Roland, 85, and his wife, Helen, 82; and their host, Walter, 64. Their combined ages were more than 500 years.

69. SARAH WILLIAMS KELLY-HAYWARD (David 1, Jeremiah 2, Seth 13, Seth 19, Seth 28, Eli 44.)

She was born May 15, 1835 in East Blackstone, Mass., and died Sept. 22, 1892 at Roseville, N. J., in her 58th year. In the summer of 1854, soon after the death of her mother, she went with her father and sister, Mary, to visit her Uncle Samuel's family in Ohio. A few days after their arrival in West Milton her father, Eli, died of cholera, leaving the girls doubly orphaned. On her return home she was sent in the fall to Worcester, Mass., by her guardian to attend the Oread Institute, a celebrated school for girls and later to Friends' School, Providence, R. I.

On completing her studies she went to Baltimore to teach, and there met and married Ely Balderton Hayward (Jan. 8, 1820—Aug. 23, 1885) on November 4, 1857. Soon afterward they made their home in Rahway, New Jersey, where he engaged in the real estate and insurance business until his death.
